The St Vincent de Paul Society thanks its Members & Volunteers

As part of National Volunteer Week celebrations from May 12-18 the St Vincent de Paul Society will celebrate the ongoing commitment and dedication of Vinnies volunteers across the state as well as acknowledge the positive impact members and volunteers have in the community generally.

During the 25th anniversary of National Volunteer Week, the Society will thank its 21,000 members and volunteers across NSW who help the Society provide crucial grassroots work such as home and hospital visitation as well as play an essential role in the running of Vinnies Shops.

Dedicated members and volunteers also work in a range of other Society's programs and Special Works including homeless services; mental health programs; budget counselling; and migrant and refugee services.

St Vincent de Paul Society NSW President Ray Reynolds explains that across the State, members and volunteers continue to ensure that the Society can provide support and services to the many Australians experiencing disadvantage.

"It is truly humbling that so many people, from many different walks of life, continue to give freely of their time and skills to our organisation. We thank each and every one of them," said Mr Reynolds.

The St Vincent de Paul Society NSW thanks its members and volunteers for helping us to assist people experiencing disadvantage in over 420 communities around NSW every day.

Interview and photo opportunity: St Vincent de Paul Society volunteers are available to talk about volunteering with the Society and the benefits to the local community.
